Program Approval

Introduction

This agenda item presents one single subject matter program submitted by an institution of higher education for single subject matter program approval.

Background

The Commission regularly receives recommendations for program approval from single subject matter review panels. These panels of subject matter experts review all program documentation and make an informed determination whether the program meets the standards common to all subject matter programs and also the content specific subject matter standards. The content specific subject matter standards are closely aligned to the K-12 academic content standards. These subject matter programs are usually undergraduate courses of study completed before candidates begin teacher preparation programs. However, the two programs may be completed concurrently.

Subject Matter Program Review Procedures

Following are the general procedures for the review of subject matter programs:

1. Technical Assistance – After the Commission adopts a set of new program standards, Commission staff members provide technical assistance to prospective program sponsors wishing to submit responses to the new standards. Technical assistance materials are provided on the Commission’s website. Staff members train, assign, and coordinate review team work.
2. Preconditions Review – After the program proposal is received, Commission staff review the sponsor’s response to the preconditions. The preconditions are based on both state laws and Commission policies, and address minimum unit and content area requirements. If the preconditions response is incomplete, the sponsor is requested to provide specific information necessary for compliance with the preconditions.
3. Program Review – The program sponsor’s responses to the Commission’s subject matter program standards are reviewed by a team of two or more subject matter educators to determine if the program meets the program standards, including the subject matter requirements (SMRs). The SMRs are the content knowledge required to be covered in the program and are aligned to the K-12 content standards that the candidate will be expected to know. The reviewers are trained in the alignment of the standards and subject matter requirements and in the review process before they are assigned proposals to review. Reviewers are instructed to find explicit evidence that programs not only align with K-12 content standards but also introduce their candidates to those standards within the context of their subject matter studies. The team must reach consensus that each standard is met based upon evidence provided in the document. If the program does not meet the standards, the sponsor is given an explanation of the findings. The sponsor may then submit the additional information requested. Once reviewers determine that the program proposal provides a convincing and adequate body of evidence to meet the Commission's adopted subject matter program standards, the program is recommended to the Commission for approval.

4. After subject matter program approval is granted by the Commission, the institution may admit candidates to the approved subject matter program. Graduates of a Commission approved single subject matter preparation program meet the Commission's subject matter requirement and are not required to take the subject matter examination (California Subject Examinations for Teachers).

This report presents one single subject matter program which has been deemed to have met all of the appropriate Standards of Quality and Effectiveness for Single Subject Matter Preparation Programs (www.ctc.ca.gov/educator-prep/STDS-subject-matter.html) by the appropriate review panel and is recommended to the Commission for approval. This program has been aligned to the SB 2042 subject matter standards adopted by the Commission. The program brought forward to the Commission at this time is: California State University, Stanislaus: Social Science.

Summary Information on the Single Subject Matter Programs

California State University, Stanislaus: Social Science

The purpose of the CSU Stanislaus Subject Matter Preparation Program in Social Science is to provide academic preparation for future teachers in the social sciences. The program philosophy, design and intended outcomes are consistent with the contents of the State-adopted Academic Content Standards for middle, junior and high school grade students and Curriculum Framework for California public schools. The program provides adequate breadth and depth in the disciplines of history, geography, political science and economics as well as an understanding of ethics and citizenship. In addition, the program fosters an appreciation of the importance of ethnic, gender and cultural diversity. Selected courses in ethnic studies, history, political science, sociology, and anthropology focus on issues of diversity and equity in order to achieve this goal. The learning outcomes listed below require candidates who complete the program to:

- Demonstrate subject matter competency in preparation for teaching history, geography, government and economics in junior and senior high schools.
- Develop world, national, state, citizen and ethical perspectives.
- Effectively engage in critical thinking, analytical and communication skills such as retrieving and synthesizing data and presenting oral and written information.
- Demonstrate an understanding of the links between the past and present, and the importance of multiple perspectives that inform the study of human interactions across time and place.
- Recognize and understand the applications of diverse disciplinary research methodologies to the study of societal issues.

Recommendations

Based upon a determination by reviewers that the following entity has met all relevant standards and requirements, staff recommends Commission approval of the following subject matter program:

California State University, Stanislaus: Social Science
