Program Approval

Introduction

This agenda item presents one single subject matter program submitted by an institution of higher education for approval.

Background

The Commission regularly receives recommendations for program approval from single subject matter review panels. These panels of subject matter experts review all program documentation and make an informed determination whether the program meets the standards common to all subject matter programs and also the content specific subject matter standards. The content specific subject matter standards are closely aligned to the K-12 academic content standards. These subject matter programs are usually undergraduate courses of study completed before candidates begin teacher preparation programs. However, the two programs may be completed concurrently.

Subject Matter Program Review Procedures

Following are the general procedures for the review of subject matter programs:

1. Technical Assistance – After the Commission adopts a set of new program standards, Commission staff members provide technical assistance to prospective program sponsors wishing to submit responses to the new standards. Technical assistance materials are provided on the Commission’s website. Staff members train, assign, and coordinate review team work.
2. Preconditions Review – After the program proposal is received, Commission staff review the sponsor’s response to the preconditions. The preconditions are based on both state laws and Commission policies, and address minimum unit and content area requirements. If the preconditions response is incomplete, the sponsor is requested to provide specific information necessary for compliance with the preconditions.
3. Program Review – The program sponsor’s responses to the Commission’s subject matter program standards are reviewed by a team of two or more subject matter educators to determine if the program meets the program standards, including the subject matter requirements (SMRs). The SMRs are the content knowledge required to be covered in the program and are aligned to the K-12 content standards that the candidate will be expected to know. The reviewers are trained in the alignment of the standards and subject matter requirements and in the review process before they are assigned proposals to review. Reviewers are instructed to find explicit evidence that programs not only align with K-12 content standards but also introduce their candidates to those standards within the context of their subject matter studies. The team must reach consensus that each standard is met based upon evidence provided in the document. If the program does not meet the standards, the sponsor is given an explanation of the findings. The sponsor may then submit the additional information requested. Once reviewers determine that the program proposal provides a convincing and adequate body of evidence to meet the Commission's adopted subject matter program standards, the program is recommended to the Commission for approval.

4. After subject matter program approval is granted by the Commission, the institution may admit candidates to the approved subject matter program. Graduates of a Commission approved single subject matter preparation program meet the Commission's subject matter requirement and are not required to take the subject matter examination (California Subject Examinations for Teachers).

This report presents one single subject matter program that has been deemed to have met all of the appropriate Standards of Quality and Effectiveness for Single Subject Matter Preparation Programs (www.ctc.ca.gov/educator-prep/STDS-subject-matter.html) by appropriate review panels and is recommended to the Commission for approval. The program brought forward to the Commission for approval at this time is: California State University, Los Angeles: Foundational Level Mathematics.

Summary Information on the Single Subject Matter Programs

California State University, Los Angeles: Foundational Level Mathematics

The Foundational Level Mathematics Program at California State University, Los Angeles prepares students to teach mathematics by providing them with an academically rigorous program. This program provides a strong foundation in mathematics, including coursework in calculus, geometry, discrete mathematics, advanced algebra, number theory, linear algebra, and the history of mathematics. This program conforms to the subject matter standards of the Commission on Teacher Credentialing, which are aligned with the Mathematics Content Standards for California Public Schools. Upon completion of the program, the candidates will be able to demonstrate the following outcomes:

- Knowledge of the real number system, the complex number system, and their structural properties
- Understanding of vectors, dot and cross products, and their application to science
- Knowledge of linear algebra, including methods of solving systems of equations by matrices
- Knowledge of rings, fields and other algebraic structures
- Knowledge of the basic results of geometry, including congruence of plane figures, similarity of figures, degree measure of angles, geometric constructions, geometric solids, area of plane figures, surface area and volume of solids, customary and metric measurement systems
- Knowledge of analytic geometry and non-Euclidian geometry
- Understanding of the key results of differential and integral calculus
- Knowledge of discrete mathematics, including relations, partially ordered sets, functions, mathematical induction, recurrence relations, permutations, combinations, trees, and graphs
- Ability to use problem solving skills to solve a variety of problems in various fields of mathematics

- Knowledge of the history of mathematics, including the contributions of the ancient Greeks, the influence of the Arabs on mathematics, the mathematics of the Renaissance, the development of analytic geometry and its impact on the development of calculus, the work of Euler on the theory of functions, the development of group theory and modern algebra, and the discovery of non-Euclidean geometry.

Recommendations

Based upon a determination by reviewers that the following entity has met all relevant standards and requirements, staff recommends Commission approval of the following subject matter program:
