Program Approval

Introduction

This agenda item presents one single subject matter program submitted by an institution of higher education for approval.

Background

The Commission regularly receives recommendations for program approval from single subject matter review panels. These panels of subject matter experts review all program documentation and make an informed determination whether the program meets the standards common to all subject matter programs and also the content specific subject matter standards. The content specific subject matter standards are closely aligned to the K-12 academic content standards. These subject matter programs are usually undergraduate courses of study completed before candidates begin teacher preparation programs. However, the two programs may be completed concurrently.

Subject Matter Program Review Procedures

Following are the general procedures for the review of subject matter programs:

1. Technical Assistance – After the Commission adopts a set of new program standards, Commission staff members provide technical assistance to prospective program sponsors wishing to submit responses to the new standards. Technical assistance materials are provided on the Commission’s website. Staff members train, assign, and coordinate review team work.
2. Preconditions Review – After the program proposal is received, Commission staff review the sponsor’s response to the preconditions. The preconditions are based on both state laws and Commission policies, and address minimum unit and content area requirements. If the preconditions response is incomplete, the sponsor is requested to provide specific information necessary for compliance with the preconditions.
3. Program Review – The program sponsor’s responses to the Commission’s subject matter program standards are reviewed by a team of two or more subject matter educators to determine if the program meets the program standards, including the subject matter requirements (SMRs). The SMRs are the content knowledge required to be covered in the program and are aligned to the K-12 content standards that the candidate will be expected to know. The reviewers are trained in the alignment of the standards and subject matter requirements and in the review process before they are assigned proposals to review. Reviewers are instructed to find explicit evidence that programs not only align with K-12 content standards but also introduce their candidates to those standards within the context of their subject matter studies. The team must reach consensus that each standard is met based upon evidence provided in the document. If the program does not meet the standards, the sponsor is given an explanation of the findings. The sponsor may then submit the additional information requested. Once reviewers determine that the program proposal provides a convincing and adequate body of evidence to meet the Commission's adopted subject matter program standards, the program is recommended to the Commission for approval.

4. After subject matter program approval is granted by the Commission, the institution may admit candidates to the approved subject matter program. Graduates of a Commission approved single subject matter preparation program meet the Commission's subject matter requirement and are not required to take the subject matter examination (California Subject Examinations for Teachers).

This report presents one single subject matter program that has been deemed to have met all of the appropriate Standards of Quality and Effectiveness for Single Subject Matter Preparation Programs (www.ctc.ca.gov/educator-prep/STDS-subject-matter.html) by appropriate review panels and is recommended to the Commission for approval. The program brought forward to the Commission for approval at this time is: California State University, East Bay: Music.

Summary Information on the Proposed Single Subject Matter Program

California State University, East Bay: Music

The Single Subject Preparation in Music at California State University, East Bay (Hayward) is a component of the College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences (CLASS). The students receive an education that is intellectually, musically, and pedagogically rigorous. In addition to completing the core of courses required for the Bachelor of Arts in Music, the students study music education with a faculty composed of experienced K-12 music educators, as well as department applied faculty and other instructors who are either practicing or retired music educators. The students are prepared to teach in a variety of settings, such as band, choir, and elementary music. The students receive instruction in all primary wind, string, and percussion instruments as well as in music technology and world music. They also receive training in how to conduct and rehearse bands and choirs, as well as a variety of approaches to teaching elementary music (i.e. the Orff and Kodály methods). Finally, preparation at CSU East Bay is not confined to the classroom, as CSU East Bay students also work side-by-side with East Bay Area music teachers in the field, providing hands-on experience with a diverse K-12 student population.

Given both the uncertainty and the variety inherent in music teaching positions, it is CSU East Bay's stated goal to prepare the students for as many different teaching situations as possible. Considering the great diversity present in today's California schools, CSU East Bay students have the added advantage of studying within a highly diverse campus population located in the diverse Bay Area.

Recommendations

Based upon a determination by reviewers that the following entity has met all relevant standards and requirements, staff recommends Commission approval of the following subject matter program: California State University, East Bay: Music
