Division of Professional Practices Workload Report

Introduction

Updates on the Commission's Division of Professional Practices (DPP) workload are presented to the Commission to provide insight into the scope and level of work in the area of educator discipline. This report covers the period of April to June for the 2022-23 fiscal year in comparison to the same period last year.

Background

The Commission's dashboards, report on six key measurements in line-graph form, showing both current year numbers as well as prior year numbers for comparison purposes.

The "Total Cases" are the number of open cases within DPP, including cases in the Intake Unit, before the Committee of Credentials (Committee), pending before the Commission, and pending an administrative hearing. At the end of the 2022-23 fiscal year, DPPs caseload was at 3,047 which is above the former normal range of 2,600-2,800 cases. The monthly average for total cases in 2022-23 was 2,886. With the current increase in application submissions, the data is trending toward a steady increase of workload in DPP.

"Cases Opened" are new cases opened during the month, from all sources, including criminal arrest notices, district reports, affidavits, and educators who self-report misconduct. In June, staff opened 521 cases, which is just above the average range of 400-500 cases opened each month.

The "Initial Review" and "Formal Review" charts reflect the number of cases reviewed by the Committee at its normal three-day meeting in June. This two-step review process is required by statute. As expected, the Initial Review cases have increased to 90 cases in June. DPP expects this number to continue to fluctuate as cases move through the Committee process.

"Cases Closed" is the number of matters closed by Commission action, Committee action or closed by staff where the Commission has given formal delegation of authority (i.e., single alcohol offenses that do not involve schools, minors, or publicity). In June, 414 cases were closed which is within the normal monthly range of 400-500.

"AG Cases" refer to cases in which an educator requests an administrative hearing to challenge the recommendation for discipline made by the Committee. An administrative hearing is an evidentiary proceeding where an administrative law judge hears and rules on the evidence. The Commission is represented in these hearings by the Office of the Attorney General (AG). The number of cases where the AG is representing the Commission is shown in the last graph. The number of cases currently at the administrative hearing stage is 167.

Next Steps

DPP is committed to work that is critical to public service and the Commission's mission. DPP continues to maintain a steady case production, while at the same time ensuring quality case preparation for the Committee.
