Authority and Reference

Education Code section 44225 authorizes the Commission to adopt the proposed regulations. The proposed regulations implement, interpret, and make specific Education Code sections 44280, 44281, 44282, and 44310 pertaining to the reauthorization of elementary subject matter programs to meet the subject matter requirement for teaching credentials.

Informative Digest/Policy Statement Overview

Summary of Existing Laws and Regulations

This rulemaking action proposes amendments to sections 80048.8, 80413, and 80499 of Title 5 of the California Code of Regulations (CCR) related to elementary subject matter programs as approved by the Commission at the June 2016 meeting.

General Provisions:

The Education Code (EC) provides two routes for individuals to satisfy the subject matter requirement for earning teaching credentials. EC §44282 directs the Commission to adopt examinations and assessments to verify subject matter knowledge and competence for Multiple and Single Subject Teaching Credentials. In addition, EC §44310 authorizes the Commission to "waive" the subject matter examination requirement for individuals completing coursework at authorized institutions as approved by the Commission:

"The commission shall waive the subject matter examination requirement for graduates of accredited public and private institutions of higher education who successfully complete subject matter programs specified by the commission.

Eligibility for an examination waiver can only be achieved when the subject matter program is one which is listed by the commission under Section 44282, and the program has been successfully completed in an approved institution of higher learning."

To conform with the Federal No Child Left Behind (NCLB) law and the California State Board of Education's State Plan, the Commission took action at its October 2003 meeting that all candidates for a Multiple Subject Credential must pass the Commission-adopted examination (CSET) to satisfy the subject matter requirement, and credential candidates enrolled after July 1, 2004 would no longer be able to complete a subject matter program to satisfy the subject matter requirement, as outlined in Coded Correspondence 03-0025.

Implications of the Examination Requirement

Discussion at the April 2016 Commission meeting several points of concern regarding the present requirements in connection with this issue. Concern has been expressed that there are multiple subject candidates beginning their teacher preparation programs without a deep understanding of the content they will be teaching. Also discussed was whether it is fair to offer only the examination option for demonstrating elementary subject matter competence while candidates for the Single Subject credential retain the option of completing either an examination or a Commission-approved subject matter program. Some candidates may have issues with tests due to disability, or may have weak standardized test-taking skills, yet may demonstrate strong undergraduate academic performance or have relevant experience in the practical application of the subject matter knowledge in question.

As California seeks to remedy the decline of the recent past in recruiting and retaining individuals in the teaching profession, restricting multiple subject credential candidates to only the examination option could be seen as creating a barrier to individuals who may otherwise be qualified to be effective teachers.

Recent Change Eliminating the Highly Qualified Designation

Section 1119 of NCLB, which requires all teachers of core academic subjects in the state to be “highly qualified,” is among the provisions of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) that states are not required to implement in the 2016-17 school year in order to facilitate an orderly transition to the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA). Highly qualified teacher (HQT) is a term that was defined in NCLB. Under ESSA, the federal definition of HQT is eliminated in favor of allowing states to set their own teacher standards. States will continue to be required to disclose the steps they are taking to evaluate the equity of teacher distribution and the qualifications of their teachers and school administrators.

With this change, the Commission is in a position to make the completion of elementary subject matter programs once again an option for teaching credential candidates to meet the subject matter requirement for teaching credentials.

Implications of Reauthorization

At the June 2016 meeting (<http://www.ctc.ca.gov/commission/agendas/2016-06/2016-06-3A.pdf>), the discussion brought out that the reauthorization of elementary subject matter programs to meet the subject matter requirement would necessitate an amendment to current regulations. California Code of Regulations, Title 5 §80413(a)(5)(A) specifically states that educators enrolled in California teacher preparation programs on or after July 1, 2004 seeking a Multiple Subject credential must pass a subject matter examination to meet the subject matter knowledge requirement:

“For a multiple subject credential, an applicant enrolled in a teacher preparation program prior to July 1, 2004 shall meet this requirement either by passage of an examination as provided in Education Code Sections 44280, 44281, and 44282 or by completion of a subject-matter program as provided in Education Code Section 44310. An applicant enrolled in a teacher preparation program on or after July 1, 2004 shall meet this requirement by passage of an examination as provided in Education Code Sections 44280, 44281 and 44282.”

In addition to Multiple Subject credential candidates, the reauthorization of elementary subject matter programs would make it possible to allow this pathway toward meeting the subject matter requirement to be used by credential candidates seeking the Education Specialist Instruction credential, as well as by fully credentialed teachers seeking to add an additional credential type. The Commission took action to approve proposed amendments to Title 5 regulations pertaining to the reauthorization of elementary subject matter programs to meet the subject matter requirement for teaching credentials that include amendments to Title 5 §§80413, 80048.8, and 80499 to provide for all these changes.

The Commission also approved adding to the proposed amendments to §80499 provision that individuals holding the Reading and Literacy Leadership Specialist (RLLS) Credential (previously issued as the Specialist Credential in Reading and Language Arts), or the Reading and Literacy Added Authorization (previously issued as The Reading Certificate) should be exempted from verifying the completion of the reading course and RICA when seeking a new credential type or teaching area using the provisions of §80499. It had been previously determined that individuals who held one of these documents had completed coursework in those respective programs considered to be at the level of the RICA or higher. Adding this provision to regulations avoids having individuals using this section of regulations from being required to complete duplicative work.

Allowing subject matter programs to serve as a means of demonstrating subject matter competence for credentialing purposes would provide a strong, consistent program route for multiple subject credential candidates, and at the same time address the current inequities between credential requirements, allowing the use of subject matter programs in single subject areas to meet the subject matter requirement for credentialing but excluding elementary subject matter programs.

Proposed Amendments to Regulations

§80048.8

(a)(4)(B) Proposes adding the option to complete a Commission-approved elementary subject matter program to meet the subject matter requirement for the Education Specialist Instruction credential.

With the proposed reinstatement of completing an elementary subject matter program for teaching credential candidates to meet the subject matter requirement for the Multiple Subject teaching credential, as proposed for §80413, for the sake of equity this option should also be applied to educators seeking the Education Specialist Instruction credential, as authorized under Education Code (EC) §44310, resolving the current inequity that allows subject matter programs in single subject areas to be used toward obtaining this type of certification but excluding elementary subject matter programs.

(a)(5)(A) Proposes deleting the date July 1, 2004 and the associated language that eliminated the use of subject matter programs to meet the subject matter requirement for the Multiple Subject teaching credential. Out of concerns related to No Child Left Behind (NCLB) and the federal definition of Highly Qualified Teachers, the option for teachers to complete a Commission-approved elementary subject matter program to meet the subject matter requirement for the Multiple Subject teaching credential was removed by Commission action effective July 1, 2004, creating an inequity between the multiple and single subject credential subject matter requirements.

Under the Federal Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), the federal definition of Highly Qualified Teachers is eliminated in favor of allowing states to determine their own teacher qualifications. With this change, the Commission is in a position to reinstate the completion of elementary subject matter programs as an option for teaching credential candidates to meet the subject matter requirement for the Multiple Subject teaching credential, as authorized under Education Code (EC) §44310, resolving the current inequity between the Multiple and Single Subject Credential requirements.

(d)(2)(A) Proposes the deletion of the application and instruction sheet revision dates and the obsolete Form 41-ECC Explanation of Criminal Conviction or Pending Criminal Charge, which has been replaced by Form OA-EF Professional Fitness Explanation Form, and adds reference to §80001, which provides definitions for applications used for certification purposes.

(e)(2)(A) Proposes the deletion of the application and instruction sheet revision dates and the obsolete Form 41-ECC Explanation of Criminal Conviction or Pending Criminal Charge, which has been replaced by Form OA-EF Professional Fitness Explanation Form, and adds reference to §80001, which provides definitions for applications used for certification purposes.

(c)(2)(A) Proposes adding the option to complete a Commission-approved elementary subject matter program to meet the subject matter requirement to allow previously credentialed teachers to obtain a new credential type under the provisions of this section, as authorized under EC §44310, resolving the current inequity that allows subject matter programs in single subject areas to be used toward obtaining this type of certification but excluding elementary subject matter programs.

(c)(2)(E) Proposes the addition of this subsection to clarify that the requirements in subsection (c)(2)(C) should not be applied to all applicants. It has been determined by the Commission that individuals who hold the Reading and Literacy Leadership Specialist Credential (previously issued as the Specialist Credential in Reading and Language Arts) or the Reading and Literacy Added Authorization (previously issued as The Reading Certificate) have completed coursework in those respective programs considered to be at a level equal to or higher than that stated in the requirements given in subsection (c)(2)(C). Therefore, to prevent an individual being required to complete duplicative work for which the required competencies have already been demonstrated, an individual holding either the Reading and Literacy Leadership Specialist Credential or the Reading and Literacy Added Authorization should be exempted from verifying completion of both a reading course and the RICA assessment when using the provisions of this section to add a new credential type or content area.

(d)(2)(A) Proposes adding the option to complete a Commission-approved elementary subject matter program to meet the subject matter requirement to allow previously credentialed teachers to obtain a new credential type under the provisions of this section, as authorized under EC §44310, resolving the current inequity that allows subject matter programs in single subject areas to be used toward obtaining this type of certification but excluding elementary subject matter programs.

(d)(6) Proposes the addition of this subsection to clarify that the requirements in subsections (d)(1)(C), (d)(2)(C), and (d)(3)(C) should not be applied to all applicants. It has been determined by the Commission that individuals who hold the Reading and Literacy Leadership Specialist Credential or the Reading and Literacy Added Authorization have completed coursework in those respective programs considered to be at a level equal to or higher than the stated requirements in subsections (d)(1)(C), (d)(2)(C), and (d)(3)(C). Therefore, to prevent an individual being required to complete duplicative work for which the required competencies have already been demonstrated, an individual holding either the Reading and Literacy Leadership Specialist Credential or the Reading and Literacy Added Authorization should be exempted from verifying completion of both a reading course and the RICA assessment when using the provisions of this section to add a new credential type or content area.
