The credential process in California is made up of a sequence of requirements, which the teacher is given up to five years to complete. Teachers receiving the Level I credential are making a commitment to complete the process and obtain the Level II or Clear credential. The Level I credential is issued for a maximum of five years. If requirements for the Level II or Clear credential are not completed before the expiration of the credential, the holder will be unable to teach in California's public schools with that credential until those requirements are met and the document renewed.

Individuals who have completed their teacher preparation program outside of the United States and have also earned a comparable teaching credential in special education issued by a US state other than California should refer to Commission leaflet CL-808, entitled Education Specialist Instruction Credential – Requirements for Individuals Prepared Out-of-State.

Individuals who complete generic special education programs outside of the United States may choose one of the following specialty areas in which to apply for the five-year Level I credential: Mild/Moderate Disabilities, Moderate/Severe Disabilities, or Early Childhood Special Education.

Individuals who complete generic special education programs outside of the United States must contact a Commission-approved Education Specialist program for an evaluation to determine if the program is equivalent to the Preliminary program content, or if any additional categorical (specialty area) course work is required.
